COMMUNICAT	ON AND CULTURAL AWARENESS
General objective	Understand means of communication and use a range of resources for both spoken and written interaction, enabling effective interpersonal communication.
Learning objective	Students will develop an awareness of diverse communication methods and employ both oral and written resources to engage with others effectively.
Descriptor	Understand and use different ways to communicate ideas while promoting a sense of appreciation for diverse methods of expressing thoughts and feelings.
Performance indicators	Learners can use basic written and spoken ways to communicate.
	Learners recognize different ways of expression.

TITLE: CULTURAL DIVERSITY

Ways people communicate

Talking: This is when you speak with others. You can talk face-to-face on the phone, through video calls, or by leaving voice messages.

Signs and Faces: Sometimes, you don't need words to talk. You can use your hands, face, body, and eyes to show what you mean. Your expressions often say a lot!

Writing: When you send messages in writing, it's called written communication. This includes emails, text messages, and even letters.

Pictures and Videos: Using pictures, videos, and things you can see helps share your message. This is called visual communication.

Listening: It's not just about talking; listening is important too! It means paying attention when someone else is talking.

SPEAKING:

How do you usually communicate? Get in small groups and answer the following questions:

- 1. Do you send letters or e-mails to your family or friends?
- 2. Can you see what people want to say with their gestures?
- 3. Do you understand drawings or emojis instead of words?
- 4. Do you listen attentively when people talk to you?

WRITTEN MEANS OF COMMUNICATION.

A letter: Do you know what a letter is?

Imagine a letter is like a special note you write to your friend or family when they're not with you. You write it on a piece of paper, put it in a special paper cover called an envelope, and then put a stamp on it. The letter goes on a little adventure and travels to your friend or family member. When it gets there, they open it and read your message. They might even send you a letter back. It's like talking to them, but with paper and not in person. It's a cool way to stay in touch when you can't see each other!

WRITE A SHORT LETTER TO YOUR BEST FRIEND.

Check the parts of a letter and write one to your best friend on a piece of paper. Use short sentences and express your ideas. When you finish, put it in an envelope a send it to you friend. Wait for the response. Used known structures and familiar vocabulary.

PARTS OF A LETTER

Date
Mr./ Ms./Mrs.
Name
Address
	Introduction

PICTURES AND IMAGES

Emojis are like little pictures that show feelings, actions, and things. You often use them when you chat on your computer or phone. They help you express your emotions and make your messages more interesting and fun!

FUN ACTIVITY

Emoji Pictionary: Write some sentences about you and draw what they mean using emojis. For example, I am happy. I am . Then, have fun guessing each other's emoji drawings.

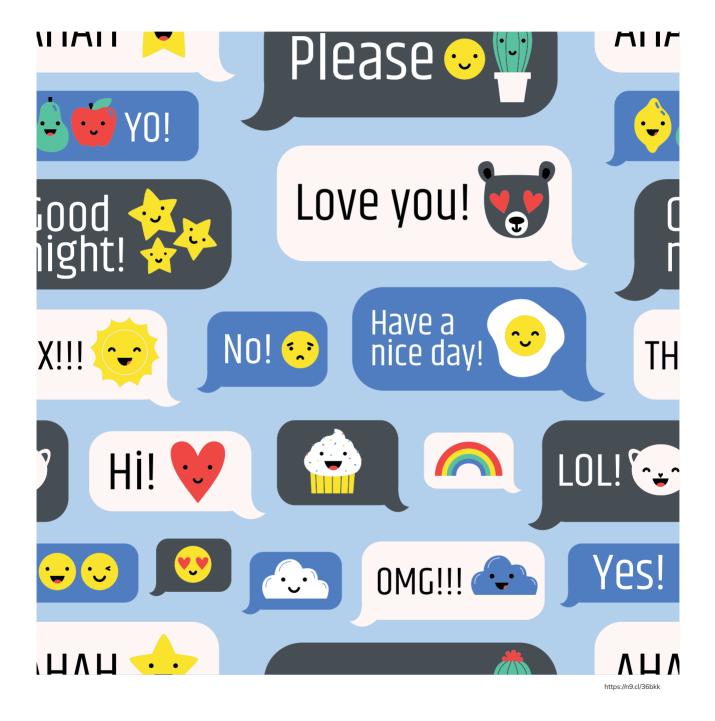

)		•••••

]	••••••	•••••	••••••	•••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••
		•••••	•••••

YOU CAN ADD MORE EMOJIS TO YOUR NOTEBOOKS.

Stickers are like big, detailed emojis.

They help show feelings, send messages, or make written words funny.

They can be famous characters, animals, or drawings.

FUN ACTIVITY Use your imagination to create stickers, draw them, and write messages using them to send messages to your friends. Use a piece of paper and display in your classroom.

OTHER COMMON WAYS OF EXPRESSION.

GIFs are short, looping videos that can express emotions, reactions, or actions. They are often used in social media and instant messaging to add humor or emphasis to written messages.

Visual aids such as images, videos, and infographics can be used to make people understand more complex information more engagingly and memorably. They can be instrumental in education.

Culture is closely related to communication. We show how we think and how we are through the way we communicate.

SPEAKING: GET IN GROUPS AND TRY A SHORT CONVERSATION WITH THESE QUESTIONS.

What is the usual way to communicate with your family? What is the usual way to communicate with your friends? Do you use letters?

Do you like emojis and stickers to express your feelings?

ANIMALS AND HABITATS

How many animals do you know? Do you know where they live?

HABITATS

A habitat is like a home for animals and plants. It is where they live, and it has everything they need to stay alive, like food, water, and a safe place to live. Habitats can be found in different natural environments, such as forests, oceans, deserts, and grasslands. In a habitat, there are living things like animals and non-living things like air and rocks. All these together make a perfect home for different creatures.

THE EMPEROR PENGUIN

Emperor penguins are special penguins living in very cold Antarctica. They are the biggest penguins, almost as tall as a six-year-old. They have a unique way of taking care of their babies. They lay one egg and let the dad stay with the egg and keep it warm while the mom finds food in the sea.

To keep warm, emperor penguins have lots of feathers and fat. They stay close together in a big group to stay warm. But these penguins are in danger because of climate change, which makes their home and food disappear.

Emperor penguins are also great swimmers. They can dive and stay underwater for a long time. They have special calls to talk to each other.

CAMELS

Camels are fascinating creatures that live in very hot places like deserts. They're super adapted to these environments. Circle of the adjectives you find.

Camels have a thick coat of hair that acts like their sunblock and helps them keep water in their bodies. They also have long legs that make them great at running in the sandy desert.

Camels can go a long time without drinking water. They can drink up to 30 gallons at once and store it in their bodies for later. Camels live in groups called herds.

Humans have been using camels for ages. We use them for rides, as a source of food, and for their milk.

os://n9.cl/82dl4

There are two types of camels: some with one hump and some with two. One-hump camels are more common in places like the Middle East, and two-hump camels are found in Central Asia.

Camels are famous for their super-long desert treks. They can travel up to 100 miles in a single day!

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT CAMELS NOW? CHOOSE THE CORRECT ANSWERS.

	WRITING
General objective	Create a questionnaire or survey to explore preferences and craft concise, straightforward paragraphs summarizing the gathered information using appropriate language.
Learning objective	Students will be able to produce surveys or questionnaires employing WH-question words to uncover preferences and craft concise, straightforward paragraphs that effectively summarize the collected information, demonstrating appropriate language usage.
Descriptor	Summarize and construct concise paragraphs summarizing gathered information while respecting others' preferences and interests.
Performance indicators	Learners will develop the ability to formulate precise wh-questions for effective information gathering, arrange data with supporting facts and details, and compose concise and clear paragraphs employing appropriate language, with limited support as needed.

TITLE: SOLVING THE MYSTERY OF LIKES AND DISLIKES

Welcome, young detectives! Today, you're about to start an exciting mission as "Preference Detectives." Get ready to uncover your friends' likes and dislikes. Your mission is to create a set of questions using WH words (who, what, where, when, why, whose, how) and gather clues to piece together short paragraphs about each other's preferences.

Are you up for the challenge? Let's solve the mystery of what your friends like and dislike!

WH-questions are a type of question that we use to get information about different things. They are called WH-questions because they all start with the letter "wh." The most common WH questions are who, what, where, when,

https://n9.cl/cyryd

why, which, whose, and how. The answer cannot be yes or no. You need to give specific answers.

Who: Used to ask about a person.

What: Used to ask about a thing.

Where: Used to ask about a place.

When: Used to ask about time.

Why: Used to ask about a reason.

Whose: Used to ask about a possession

Which: Used to ask about a choice between options.

How: Used to ask about manner.

https://n9.cl/243xt

Complete the following	questions with the correct	WH-question word.
------------------------	----------------------------	-------------------

 do you like that movie?
is your best friend?
 _ do you live?
is your favorite color?
 is your birthday?
 do you play that game?
 pencil is this?
_ book do you want to read?

WH-questions begin with a question word, followed by an auxiliary verb, subject, main verb, and object/other information. For example: What is your favorite color? Where do you live?

Complete the structure:

WH-word +

Now is your turn! Create a set of questions about different topics to know more about your friends.

WHEN YOU FINISH YOUR QUESTIONS, IT IS TIME TO WRITE YOUR FRIEND'S INFORMATION.

A paragraph is a group of sentences that focuses on one main idea.

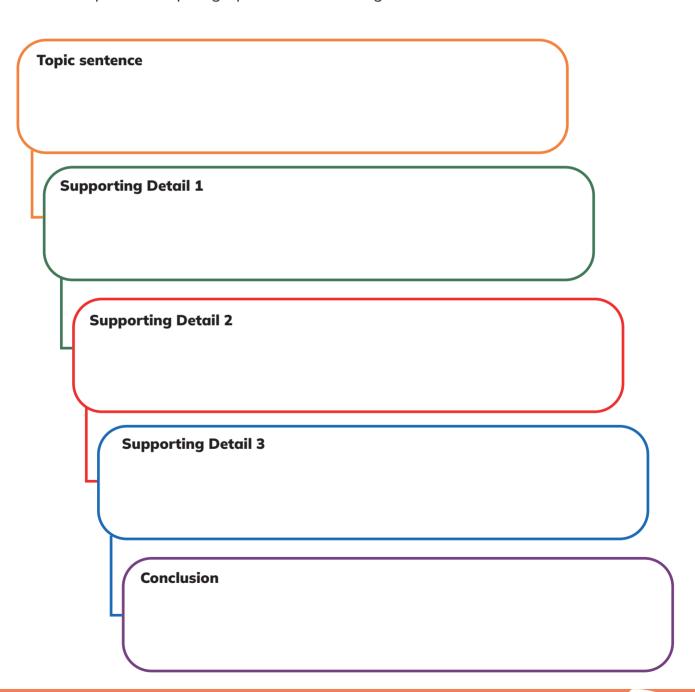

It is a way of organizing information and presenting it in a clear and organized manner. Paragraphs can be found in many places, such as books, websites, letters, and more.

There are different parts to a paragraph, just like there are different parts to a hamburger or a sandwich.

The first part of a paragraph is the topic sentence, which tells the reader what the paragraph is about.

The other sentences in the paragraph provide details and examples to support the main idea.

The last part of the paragraph is the concluding sentences or conclusion.

Once you have organized the information, write your paragraph.

WORKSHEET 5

LANGUAGE THROUGH THE ARTS
General objective	Design and produce original works with a creative artistic touch and blend elements from literary texts with imaginative details to craft new, original texts enriched with arts and imagination.
Learning objective	Create original picture books, infographics, posters, illustrations, and comics about personal stories and surroundings by combining literary elements with imaginative artistic details, demonstrating creative expression through art and storytelling.
Descriptor	Construct and illustrate unique art expressions from personal experiences and the environment using literary elements and imaginative artistic expression while promoting the value of creative self-expression.
Performance indicators	Learners can create picture books, infographics, posters, illustrations, and comics, using an imaginative perspective, and language proficiency suitable for their age and level.
	Incorporate basic literary elements, such as simple plots, characters, and narrative sequences, into visual works to enhance story telling as well as personal narrative.

TITLE: BUILDING STORIES

"Art for Values: Creating Visual Works to Teach Values to Others" We can use art and language to express ourselves. There are different ways to connect arts and words.

https://n9.cl/vaopq

HERE WE HAVE SOME EXAMPLES:

Picture books are books that use illustrations to tell a story.

Posters are visual displays that are designed to convey a message or promote a product or idea.

Illustrations are drawings or paintings that are used to enhance a text or convey a message.

Comics are stories that are told through a series of sequential art panels. They often use speech bubbles and sound effects to convey dialogue and action.

PROJECT

Values are extremely important to living with other people. They help us build character, define ourselves, differentiate between right and wrong, develop empathy and compassion, and have a positive influence on the world.

We will utilize our creativity to craft artwork and launch a campaign in our class or school, aimed at promoting and celebrating our core values. You can choose to write a short picture book, create a poster, illustrate some example situations where values are important, or create a comic. Just use your imagination.

https://n9.cl/j1veh

HERE YOU CAN FIND A LIST OF VALUES THAT CAN HELP YOU.

Honesty: Being truthful and sincere in all interactions with others.

Respect: Treating others with kindness, consideration, and empathy.

Responsibility: Being accountable for one's actions and taking ownership of one's mistakes.

Kindness: Showing compassion and generosity towards others.

Integrity: Doing the right thing even when no one is watching.

Gratitude: Being thankful for what one has and expressing appreciation towards others. Courage: Facing challenges and adversity with bravery and determination. Fairness: Treating others equally and without bias. Empathy: Understanding and sharing the feelings of others. Remember, it is important to structure sentences correctly, use the words you know, and ask your teacher for support if needed. Once you finish, you can display your work.

Perseverance: Sticking with a task or goal even when it is difficult.

WORKSHEET 6

	PRONUNCIATION
General objective	Develop clear and effective English pronunciation skills, enabling learners to communicate confidently and be readily understood in both academic and real-world contexts.
Learning objective	Understand and correctly pronounce words with silent letters in English to communicate clearly.
Descriptor	Recognize and differentiate sounds and letters for correct spelling and pronunciation while appreciating the value of clear and precise communication to understand others.
Performance indicators	Recognize words with silent vowels.
	Pronounce the sounds correctly.
	Write some words just by listening to them.

TITLE: MASTERING SILENT LETTERS IN ENGLISH PRONUNCIATION

Silent letters are letters in a word that are not pronounced when the word is spoken. They are often used to indicate the word's origin or to differentiate between homophones. Silent letters can be found in both vowels and consonants.

Some examples of words with silent letters include "knight," "gnome," "honor," "debt," and "subtle."

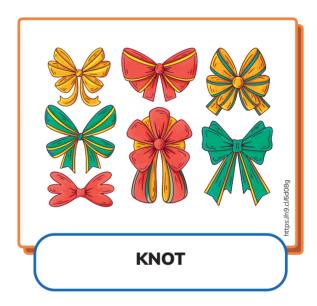

SILENT 'K': REPEAT AND MATCH.

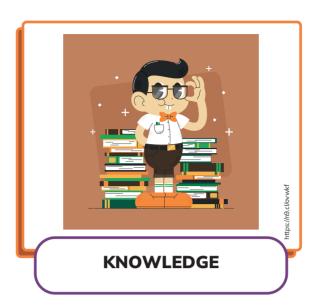

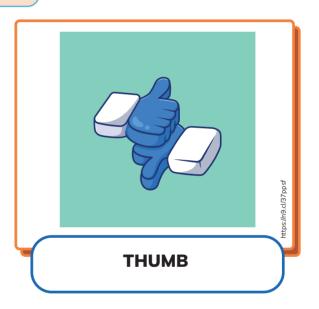

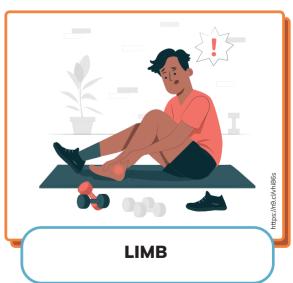

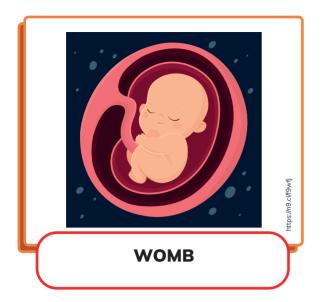

SILENT 'B': REPEAT AND MATCH.

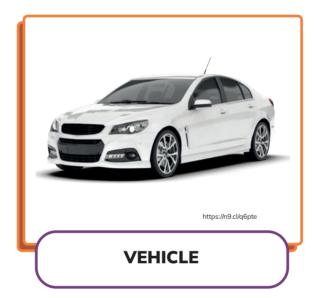

SILENT 'H': REPEAT AND MATCH.

SILENT 'W': REPEAT AND MATCH.

PICK FIVE WORDS FROM THE LIST ABOVE AND CREATE A SENTENCE FOR EACH. PRACTICE READING THEM OUT LOUD TO MAKE SURE YOU SAY THEM CORRECTLY.
